Farm Bureau Notes

Feed 'Em Right

There have been several articles in this column relative to balanced feeding of cattle, hogs, poultry and the like.

What about the children, the most important of all farm crops? If a balanced ration is good for the pigs and the cows and the chickens, why is it not good for the kiddies? It is, and it is even more important to see that they are properly fed than to have the right rations for the live stock.

It is not such a hard thing to give the children a well balanced ration either, not on the farm. Plenty of milk and butter is begun with, provided there and the mineral matter they need, and soluble fats and vitamins, then some eggs, fresh vegetables, including some green stuff, either cooked or raw, a liberal allowance of fruit, and with the other foods regularly found on farm tables any child will get all the nourishment he needs.

Or, to put it another way, a good milk cow or two, a flock of hens, a good year-round garden and an orchard or a berry patch and a balanced ration for the children is assured. Without the cow, the chickens and the garden, the little ones are almost certain not to be properly fed.

The Farmers and Merchants Bank at Tolu will again sponsor a Junior Agricultural Club and for the coming year there will be projects in raising pig growing, baby beef, sheep and poultry. One project that is starting now is the poultry work and all interested juniors are urged to get in touch with Mr. Grimes right away. Rhode Island Red hatchlings eggs will be distributed on the return pullet plan to club members, starting on Saturday, March 18 at the Bank. This Junior Agricultural Club work is a splendid thing for all children between the ages of 10 and 18 to be in. They learn better methods in live stock care, take more interest in farming and will as the result make better citizens for Crittenden county. A Junior Club Camp will be held in the county this year under the supervision of the Junior Club Department of the University of Kentucky to which all club members are eligible. This camp will be the greatest camp of its kind ever held in the county. It will be held the latter part of July if present plans hold.

The County Agent will be absent from his office Saturday March 18th. He will be at the Tolu Bank that day with the Junior Club members.

As many of you know the County Agent work will be continued for the year 1922. This work will be more extensive this year than it has been in the past. If you are not acquainted with the County Agent come in some Saturday and meet him. He is anxious to know you. The County Agent wishes to thank everyone who helped in the support of County Agent work in Crittenden county.

N. K. Linton, of Marion, was in the city Friday and Saturday, says the Providence Enterprise.

CRITTENDEN ACADEMY

Is there a former student of this institution in Marion or elsewhere? Is there a citizen of this county who remembers the school, or knows where the building was located? Inquiries have been made among our oldest citizens yet we have failed to obtain any knowledge of the Crittenden Academy.

In an advertising circular recently found and handed in by one of our readers it is stated that the school opened at Marion, Ky., Nov. 6, 1849, 73 years ago, five years after Crittenden was made a county and four years after Marion was incorporated as a town. The school was divided into two departments, James W. Primmer being principal of the Male Department and Miss Harriet Cary of the Female Department. Both teachers were from New York.

The circular sets forth the advantages of Marion as an educational center, being in close proximity to both the Ohio and the Cumberland rivers, possessing all the advantages of a river town, yet free from the objections of such towns.

The course of study comprised all the common and high school branches, Latin, French, German, Greek, etc., as well as lessons on the piano and mechanical drawing, painting, etc., etc.

It also stated that good board could be obtained in excellent private families for $1.50 per week, including washing and lights.

Who knows anything about this school? The Press would be glad to hear from any former pupil or patron.

WILL YOU JOIN?

Mr. W. L. Adams, who has just returned from Zillah, Wash., where he has resided for ten or twelve years, says he will remain in Crittenden county to the end of his days, provided he can make a living. And he can make a mighty comfortable living, he says, if people enough here will come to his aid and then come betterment.

Mr. Adams is a great fruit man and has been living in a great fruit country. He desires to raise strawberries and he says that the reason they have never been profitable here is because the people did not grow enough of them and had to depend on the local market. He therefore wants to organize an association of strawberry growers if enough people will join and make the growing of the berries worth while, enough to attract the attention of eastern buyers. So if the farmers and others who own a patch of ground want to put Marion on the strawberry map they should join the Strawberry Growers Association.

RESOLUTIONS

WHEREAS, on Sunday March 5, 1922, God in His infinite wisdom saw fit to call home our brother and co-worker in Christ's kingdom, Elmer Elder, Clinton W. Bryant;

NOW THEREFORE be it resolved that we weep not as those who have no hope, but we realize that in this dispensation of His will providence our loss is only the eternal gain to brother Bryant; and

BE IT Further Resolved that in the death of brother Bryant this church loses a faithful, consistent and stalwart christian character, the community a good citizen and the family a loving and devoted father and husband; and

BE IT Further Resolved that this session, and our church as a whole, extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family, and commend them to God, who alone can give them consolation.

RESOLVED Further, that we do spread this resolution on the record book of our church and that a copy be sent to the bereaved family and a copy be sent to the Crittenden Press, for publication, and a copy also be sent to The Presbyterian Advance.

OBITUARY OF L. S. LAMB

He was born October 14, 1848.
When a boy Bro. Lamb had a hope but he never confessed it until 1886.
Rev. James F. Price was the pastor.
His failing to confess his Lord caused several years of unsettled life. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation (Romans); and Bro. Lamb made this mistake in life. Bro. Lamb was married to Miss Lou Pickens on March 22, 1888. To this happy union one child was born, it died in infancy.
Bro. Lamb was a law-abiding citizen, a christian gentleman. He was true to his church and honest with his fel-lowmen and a good farmer. He provided well for his home and loved to have his friends come to see him, and his home was the preacher's home when they were hungry and tired.

He was a friend to the orphans and widows in their troubles. He had the royal Scotch-Irish blood in him. He was a deep and quiet thinker, slow to speak but kind and true. He was chaste in his language, had the highest respect for other men's opinions, a good man and his church and neighbors will miss him.
Our loss is his gain. But we bow in obedience to all that is good and with faith and hope we look beyond this life to a time when we will meet in the sweet land of light. Where the weary will be at rest, where the city will be lighted up with love, and where there will be no more goodbye.
May great peace rest upon the home and his dear companions in the writer's prayer.

OBITUARY

Sybil Inez Belt, the daughter of George T. and Rittie Belt was born Oct. 24, 1891, died March 2, 1922.
She was converted to the Christian faith in August 1906, and immediately united with and was baptized into the fellowship of the Baptist church at Deer Creek in Crittenden county, where she lived a consistent christian and church life until God saw fit to remove her from the church militant to the church triumphant.

Somehow it was revealed to her that soon she would leave this world and cross the Jordan of death and she talked to her father about the crossing and said "I realize that I am not going to get well but am not in the least excited about it, and am perfectly reconciled to go, I am ready."

She leaves Father, Mother, two brothers, Rupert of Louisville, and Maurice, and one sister, Mrs. Clara Mann of Meigs, but amid all the mourning it is seasoned with pleasant memories that they have of her.

Sybil was a girl of rare christian graces always busy about the things of her Lord and Master, never having the time or the disposition to waste her life in the whirl of world, society, but always chose to associate herself with the better elements of society who were busy in the promotion of things worth while in the world that would help some one else and bring in the kingdom of our Lord.
In the home life she was one of the few who could be trusted and upon whom father and mother could rely and brothers leaned heavily for counsel and help. In the community life she always had a kind word and a helping hand, and was of the best type, full of alms deeds and good work, of which there were many expressions when she was taken away.

The church, with her, came first and she was always at her post of duty taking a live interest in the things that would promote its well-fare, and there was no duty too hard but that she counted it a privilege to help in the prosecution of that duty, and spoke of it as a joy and not a burden.

Her pastor could always depend on her to help and not to hinder in all the various phases of church work.

It is the universal testimony of all who knew her that she will be missed as but few in the home, in the church and in the community.

We know our loss better by having known and being associated with her, and look up to our living Heavenly Father and try to be reconciled to His will and pray that He would reveal to us what He is saying in this sad dispensation of His dealings and ask for wisdom to attain to the higher life, such as has been so nobly displayed by Sybil and know that God is able to keep that committed to Him against that day.

Her funeral was conducted amid a concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends and former pastor, Homer C.
Parr, after which her body was laid to rest by kind hands in the Deer Creek cemetery to await the Morning when Jesus shall come and gather the sleeping when soul and body shall be reunited and be forever with the Lord, wherefore my beloved comfort ye one another with these words.

ONE ADVANTAGE OF DAIRYING

After Former Has Fed All His Crops

Still Has Machinery

One of the great advantages of dairying over other feeding is that after a farmer has fed all his crops and sold his produce he still has the machinery left for producing more of the same kind while when the crops are sold a new animal at the Studebaker is the world's largest builder of six-cylinder motor cars!

1921 was the TEST YEAR for motor car values. It was a year of discriminating buying. People did not buy cars, last year, as the result of a whim or fancy. They bought on the basis of intrinsic values.

And in such a year Studebaker built more six-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer in the world.

Studebaker led in 1921 because it built—complete in its own plants—cars of superior design, materials and workmanship, at the lowest possible prices.

Studebaker will lead again in 1922 because, in the new models, the refinements of the new year have been added to the proven values of the old. Be sure to see the new models now.

INCOMPETENTS ARE KEPT

The annual turnover in the government service is something almost incredible. No business corporation, however, strongly established, could long endure the heavy annual drain on its resources. Hundreds of men leave the government service daily, and the government must have a large number of men to do the work. This is the reason, as every employer knows.

The requirements from the government service are clearly from the government and from the very nature of the service. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work.

It is the people in the middle class who stay on the longest. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work.

The civil service commission, through which the great bulk of government employees are brought into the service, is not aware of this condition. Its reports give emphasis to the difficulty constantly experienced in securing and retaining competent employees. The situation in office has become increasingly frequent and vitally important the efficiency of the service.

During the war there was a lower rate of turnover in the mechanical forces than in outside establishments. The proposition of separation, however, is excessive in clerical, professional and technical positions, in which the rate of turnover sometimes amounts to a third of the force in a year.

During the nine months preceding the outbreak more than 10,000 appointments were made in the civil service and about 10,000 separations were made. That is, for every two appointments made one person left the service. For a period of several months following the outbreak the rate of separation was even higher. In this period about 10,000 separations were made and about 10,000 appointments were made.

WHAT OF THESE OLD MEN?

Congress enacted a law in 1910 requiring all kinds of departments and independent establishments in the federal service to report each year to the secretary of the treasury the number of men over 65 years of age who were in the service. The law also required the secretary of the treasury to report to the house of representatives the number of men over 65 years of age who were in the service.

For example, last year the chief clerk of the treasury reported 170 men over 65 years of age in the treasury department. The chief clerk of the treasury reported 170 men over 65 years of age in the treasury department. The chief clerk of the treasury reported 170 men over 65 years of age in the treasury department.

I know of 100 men over 65 years of age who are in the service. I know of 100 men over 65 years of age who are in the service. I know of 100 men over 65 years of age who are in the service. I know of 100 men over 65 years of age who are in the service. I know of 100 men over 65 years of age who are in the service.

It is a fact that at the age of 65, a man is not as strong as he was at the age of 25. It is a fact that at the age of 65, a man is not as strong as he was at the age of 25. It is a fact that at the age of 65, a man is not as strong as he was at the age of 25. It is a fact that at the age of 65, a man is not as strong as he was at the age of 25. It is a fact that at the age of 65, a man is not as strong as he was at the age of 25.

From a copyist at first, November 11, 1865, at $3 a day, the young man was advanced as follows:

July 1, 1870, clerk at $1,200 a year; July 1, 1884, clerk at $1,500 a

The exigencies of the war required a great expansion of the clerical forces at Washington and elsewhere and this was accomplished by a labor turnover several times above normal. The percentage of appointments in the civil service rose from 20 to more than 50 per cent—that is, more than half the men and women who successfully passed civil service examinations and were offered jobs under the government refused to take them. It is estimated that more than 100,000 of those who had not been appointed during that time.

The civil service commission says that these men, who are now in the service, are now in the service. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work.

These men, who are now in the service, are now in the service. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work.

Among these men, who are now in the service, are now in the service. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work.

Total 1,000

The commission of pensions applies the following compact statement of the age of the employees in the pension bureau:

Number in the classified civil service, 804, age of the oldest employee, eighty-eight, number over eighty years of age, 28, number between sixty-five and eighty, 201, based on age of sixty, 201, number eligible for retirement, 201, percentage of employees eligible for retirement, 25.1, average age of all employees, July 1, 1910, fifty-eight.

These old men and women bear the burden of the administration of the country. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work. The men who are kept in the service are those who are able to do the work.

It will be seen that he was elected in December 1911, and again in May, 1912, to the same position, receiving the same salary and responsibilities. These duties were at his own request. In October, 1917, he received from the assistant secretary of the navy, Mr. H. H. Wood, the following letter:

"I have to inform you that you have been granted leave without pay for six months beginning October 15, 1917. As you have been in the employ of the government now nearly thirty years, and during all that time your record has been excellent, I regret that there is no way in which the department could continue you on the rolls with compensation.

TOO MUCH FOR GRANDMOTHER

Mathematical Problem, Old Lady Declared, Was Something That "No Fellow Could Understand."

The little girl at the elementary school had been promoted to multiplication and for her home work was set the task of finding out how many legs 401 normal horses possess. A bit puzzled as how to work it out, in the evening as she sat with her ever-cloak in front of her, she called in the services of her grandmother.

"Let's see," said Grandma, adjusting her spectacles. "One horse'll have four legs, two eyes, three twelve, four sixteen, five twenty," and then she broke off. "How many horses did you say?" she asked.

Goat Eat Goat!

Ever eat any goat meat? Sure? Department of Agriculture says about 342,000 goats are slaughtered and sold as meat yearly. Few cities require goat meat to be marketed under its real name. It looks like mutton, a trifle sweeter.

In this nightmare called civilization we probably eat a great many strange things without knowing it.

If a written history could accompany each article of food, few city folks would have to be cautious against overeating.

Darby's Excellent Reason for Preferring to Take His Chances With the Bear.

A New York man tells of an exciting bear hunt in Mississippi. The bear was surrounded in a small cane thicket. The dogs could not get him out, and the gentleman who was at the head of the hunting party called to one of the darkies:

"Tins, go in there and get that bear out!"

His hesitated for a moment and then plunged into the cane. A few moments later the negro, the bear and the dogs were rolling on the ground outside. After the hunt was over the man from the north said to the darky:

"Tins, weren't you afraid to go into that thicket with the bear?"

His Honor's Guess.

In Ireland some years ago an Irish American was brought up before Justice Barry on the charge of embezzlement. The officer who arrested him stated, among other things, that he was wearing a "republican hat."

"Does your honor know what that is?" asked the counsel.

"It may be," responded the judge, "that it's a hat without a crown."
